FAMILY HOME EVENING FESTIVAL

A family home evening festival was held in the Tracy Second Ward, Manteca California Stake. The children were divided into four groups that took turns preparing a story, a game, music aids, and refreshments to take home and use at their own family home evenings.

Wendy Kirkham, 11, Pocatello, Idaho, cleans her great-grandfather's house each week and helps care for her family's garden, orchard, and animals.

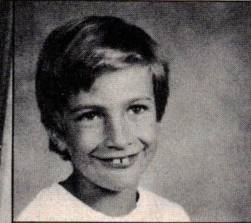

Paige Mitchell, 7, Orem, Utah, loves her family, friends, and the Church. She likes singing, dancing, playing school, and babies.

READING THE SCRIPTURES DAILY

The children of the Lookout Mountain Ward Primary, Phoenix North Stake, worked hard on reading the Book of Mormon daily. Each day that a child read from the Book of Mormon, he was awarded a circle, which was then affixed to the end of a line of circles on the Primary room wall. Six weeks and 700 circles after their project had begun, the line of circles extended around the Primary room, down the hall, and around the corner to their goal—the bishop's office.

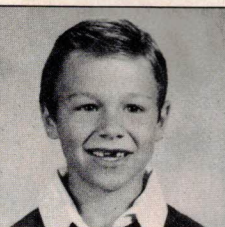

Darin Hibbert, 7, Alta, Wyoming, lives near the Tetons. He plays the piano and loves to read his scriptures and to swim.

Eric Burgon, 8, San Jose, California, thought it was neat to turn eight on August 8, 1988, and was happy that he could be baptized.

Cassie Bush, 5, Great Falls, Montana, loves to color, dance, and do gymnastics. She helps her baby sister and loves her friend Amber.

David Berry, 10, Ridgecrest, California, likes Scouting, sports, drawing, and playing the piano.

COLLECTING FRIENDS

Jay Call, 9, of Burley, Idaho, has collected 203 copies of the Friend and the Children's Friend. His oldest copy is from July 1946. He gets the magazines for his collection from friends, ward members, Deseret Industries, and by subscribing to the Friend.

THE BOOK OF MORMON
A WITNESS OF JESUS CHRIST

Children's Sacrament Meeting Presentation

PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS

The objective of our program is to help the children understand that the Book of Mormon is another witness of Jesus Christ, in addition to the Bible, and that they can apply gospel principles in their lives by following righteous examples from the Book of Mormon.

Throughout this year, the Primary has been studying the Book of Mormon. Once a month in our Sharing Times, the story of a Book of Mormon prophet was presented to the children. During that month, the children completed a reading assignment about that prophet. The children have also been marking their own Book of Mormons with pictures on the key scriptures from each prophet's story.

As we present our program today, we will use overhead transparencies to illustrate the stories the children are telling. Several of these pictures include the drawings the children used to mark their own scriptures.

We would like to invite the congregation to join with us in reading several scriptures throughout the program and in singing two songs, "Called to Serve" and "I Believe in Christ" with the children.
